The Colophon

We Honor

We, the Senior Class, affectionately dedicate this book to one who worked patiently and untiringly with us through these four years, who has been not only a teacher but a true friend, and without whose ceaseless efforts this Colophon would not be published

Elizabeth R. Potts

The Colophon

Foreword

Colophon means "finishing touch." And so, just as this book is the finishing touch to our high school career, success and happiness shall be the finishing touch of our lives if we but cultivate the virtues of honesty, faithfulness, kindness, and sincerity.

Shakespeare's plays, "Macbeth" and "The Tempest", have become familiar to Junior and Senior English classes, under the direction of Mrs. Russell and Miss Myers, while Scott's "Ivanhoe" is one of the problems which Miss Beacom's Sophomore English classes must solve. At the same time the Freshmen are introduced to the "Ancient Mariner" and Grenfall's "Adrift on an Icepan" by Miss Dullinger and Miss Kaputa. English and American Literature, plus grammar and composition, are a part of all the English courses of study.

The Freshman Civics classes, with Miss Fisher, Mr. Greiner, and Miss Beacom as guides, study the problems of community life, while the Sophomores, with Mr. Porch, delve into the Ancient History for a glimpse of the world 2000 years ago. "Taxation without representation was a cause of the Revolutionary War" is one of the doctrines taught by Miss Fisher and Miss Barnhart, in their American History classes. Under the supervision of Miss Barnhart, Seniors wrestle with the American Problems of Democracy, discussing such topics as crime, education, and governmental politics.

"Over to the right a little—There that's right—Do you have it?—Angle $40^{\circ} 21' 13''$ —That checks out." No, this is not a football signal, it is just a little of the conversation of the Trigonometry students as they accurately survey the high school grounds. Standing near is the supervisor, Miss Honse. With her patient guidance added to that of Miss Neiderheiser, the Freshmen's worries in equations and ratios are soon solved.

"Want to buy a house—car—or just anything?" If so, just go to Mr. Silvis' Salesmanship classes, where you will find the Seniors training for their places as super-salesmen.

"Armo virumque cano"—so say the Junior and Senior Latin students when Miss Potts, their magister, helps them struggle through Virgil. At the same time the Freshmen and Sophomores decline nouns, conjugate verbs, and fight Caesar's Gallic wars with Miss Potts as their leader. Later Juniors and Seniors are Parlez-vous Francaising with Miss Neiderheiser.

H₂O, the anatomy of a spider, plus the intricacies of a Ford motor are all familiar to the science students when demonstrations are made by their master scientists, Mr. Kromer, Mr. Jones and Mr. Evancho.

To those who are interested in music, Miss Miller, through the medium of glee club, orchestra, band and operetta, offers opportunities to develop all talents.

Any day, rain or shine, during football season you can see Mr. Clark putting his boys through their grind in preparation for the coming onslaught when flashing "Red Hurricane" dashes to victory.

Good penmanship, no erasers, no crossouts make a neat set of books.

Many of our students have a decided business attitude, and give evidence of it in their Commercial classes. These students are prepared for the business world by Mr. Clark and Mr. Batiste.

The Agriculture department in care of Mr. Seamans is a great encouragement to our agricultural minded students. The weekly meeting is spent in the discussion of practically every farm problem that may arise. After a summer project has been approved by the instructor, the course is completed.

Senior Class History

*One bright September morning
In nineteen thirty-two,
A crowd of smiling Freshmen
Entered like a crew.
We heard "Initiation",
The cry that filled the halls,
But soon that cry subsided
Took pity on our falls.*

*The first three months were busy
For football held the sway.
We Freshmen did our best to cheer
The heroes, bold and gay.
Then football days were over
Exams were first in line
And widely spreaded failures
Caused more than one to pine.
Then we no longer bore
That green name of days of yore
But stood before that great wide door
Which proudly stated "Sophomore."*

*We began our Sophomore days
In September, too.
Oh, dear Alma Mater
We were back again with you.
We bought our pennants and red tams,
Just to sate our long demands
And then we settled down to rue
For the days were very, very blue.*

*Then faster, faster flew the days
And Sophomores we no more proclaimed
For now we reached a higher realism
Which is called the Junior Class.*

*In our jolly Junior days
Many things held sway
But the best of all these things
Was the jolly Junior play.
Its title was "The Empty House"
And, as most of us have seen,
It couldn't have been better
If played upon the screen.
Then came another thing
For which we all had waited
The presenting of the best class ring
Whose shine has never faded.*

*But soon those jolly days were o'er
For now we saw the door
To the class for which we all do strive
The class called Senior.
Here we received our pictures
And name cards new and neat
And we put forth a Yearbook
That hasn't yet been beat.
But time and tide are calling
Our days here soon are o'er.
No doubt we are the saddest
To leave Hurst High School's door
But in our hearts she'll linger
Our Mother --- evermore!*

Senior Class Prophecy

Everything was so dull and monotonous; I thought I'd take a walk. The hot sun made me feel drowsy, and I stopped to rest. Suddenly I felt myself going down—down—down—and “bumps”—I came to my senses sitting in the dark. A dim light shone faintly on a heavy door bearing the sign “See the Future.” Just then, the door creaked on its rusty hinges—a weird shriek—and then, a screechy voice muttered, “Come in”—and all was still.

Groping through the darkness, I stumbled and fell into a crude chair, and again I heard that squeaky voice “Are you ready?” Before I could reply the atmosphere was changed as if by magic, and I was entranced by “Pals Forever”, a picture which dated back to Senior Commencement of 1936. Again I see my senior friends trotting in different directions:

Now it is ten years later:

In a cozy white cottage with green shutters, the farmeress, Eleanor Newcomer is bustling about her daily chores as she keeps house for Robert Andrews, who is now an Electrical engineer. Happily she greets the whistling postman, John Sansone, as he enters upon the gravel walk. On the corner stands an attractive man in blue uniform, patiently ushering the children across the street, and halting automobiles with his shrill whistle. He is none other than the honorable Andrew J. Bohatch.

In the adjoining block, situated at the corner of Lowstetter Boulevard and Kalp Avenue, is a charming little garage owned by Edgar Harr. As a pretty roadster, driven by Ruth Haberman pulls up to the garage, I see Earl Lohr approach to give her service. At the side of the garage, attired in greasy overalls, are Frank Kofile and Lawrence Carey, who seem to be toiling over millions of parts, of what looked to have been at one time an automobile.

In a smart “chic” shop, owned by that well-dressed Amy Lou Kelly, I see that dignified Margaret Barnhart, who is society's leading figure. She is haughtily observing several glamorous gowns modeled by Annette Daugherty, Virginia Lacik and Elizabeth Dzuban. In a corner at a huge desk, sits “Lil” Yohman, checking up the accounts.

In a picture of the Opera, I see in the orchestra pit, Elmer Muchoney, the leader of the New York Symphony, of which Helen Hribal, Muriel Hower, and Blaine Shaffer are important members. It is here that I find Rebecca Shelley has taken the place of Lily Pons, and has become a favorite character in Grand-Opera.

With the following flash, I curiously watch Don Queer, handsome in his white official apparel, perform a tedious operation on Jesse Crum, who has been seriously injured in a train crash. He is assisted by those world famous surgeons, Leo Shaw and Charles Marks. Also here in the field of nursing we find Susan Ahlborn, Directress of Nurses, and Kay Gorinsky as Chief Dietician. In this same institution Marion Mellicent and Martha Elmo are well on their way to success as professional nurses.

In a glimpse of the business section I find in a large office that great G-man, George Rose conversing with his assistant, George Zimmerman, as to their clues on the robbery of Porch's Bank. (This is the greatest robbery in years.) In an outer office, Irene Paskar, Elizabeth Bayusik, and Amelia Rollins are quite absorbed in their work at the typewriters.

Of course, the picture would not be complete without a broadcast from Radio City. Here I hear Lib Kaputa, the second Kate Smith, as she sings with that famous Jazz band directed by Daniel Fidda. Andrew Mizenko, who has taken the place of Bing Crosby, also sings on this program which is sponsored by the United Foods Product Co., owned and operated by Elmer Shebeck. Next I hear the clear, deep voice of that famous news commentator, Andrew Craffey, giving the latest highlights in the World of Sports, and in this Frank Pyda, Leonard Rutkosky and Andy Sivak were given honorable mention at the hockey meet in the Olympic Games.

The next second found me at the Langley Field. Listen to the hum of that large tri-motored monoplane! Isn't it a beauty? I wonder who the pilot is! Ah! It is Harry Marks. Why, look who the passengers are—Henry Scoff and Ann Carleton (confidentially, I bet they are on their honeymoon). I guess Henry feels quite safe to take Ann up in a plane that is operated by the reliable Marks.

Oh! Look at the charming little place here. Now isn't that just the most inviting restaurant you'd want to find. I wonder what this sign says?—“owned by Joe Lucas”—Well that's interesting. Let's peek inside. Why, there is Margaret Pocorus, Eva Olenchock and Julia Kurutz enjoying a change of atmosphere after a busy day in the stuffy office. I notice quite a few handsome young fellows loafing here. I wonder what the big attraction is—Oh, I see it now. It is those alluring waitresses, Violet Domurat, Jeanne Grey, and Eileene Daugherty.

Suddenly, I see a very business like young man entering a huge building. Doesn't he look like Mike Demcho? Why, it is Mike—to be sure! He is the editor of the “Chicago Gossip”, a great newspaper, for which Walter Connors, Pete Pavick, and Daniel Patsko are very accurate reporters. Here are also some famous women news reporters, the most important of whom are Margaret Labosky, Clara Uram, Irene Olenchock, and Madalene Czeck. I also see here William Balazek and Andrew G. Bohatch as very daring camera men.

Across the street I see the huge plant of the General Electric Manufacturing Co., of which Edward Kluska is the president. Here David Hunter is the chief electrical mechanic. Also, James Kurtz appears to be very illustrious as a radio expert. In this line we also see some advancement in Television. This progress was made by the scientific duo, Joe Takitch and Lou Ranella.

What's that I hear—the clangor of bells—I wonder if that means there is a fire. Yes it does, for there is the racing red truck, and there are the blazes. Notice how that brave fire chief, John Blanda, snaps out orders to his courageous men, Mike Stachak, Robert Whipkey, and Homer Nicholson. The blazes are gone. It didn't take long for these bold men to conquer their hazardous enemy, and thanks to the brave firemen, no one seems to be hurt. But the maid, Tressie Williams, is almost in a state of hysteria because of the absence of her mistress, Dorothy Davis.

In the next scene a charming little shop attracts my attention. It is one of the most prominent beauty parlors, owned by Eleene Gearhart, a reputable beautician, assisted by Millie Johnson and Louise Baughman. Sitting comfortably in a big chair is Iona Shaffer having a special new hair-dress, which had made a big hit in Paris.

An inside view of the City Library reveals Edith Boyer and Vivian Poole as the librarians. There among the people who are lounging and reading, I find Mayor Allen Rose with Councilman Robert Trout. Senator John Pushear is also a visitor to this popular place.

A flash from the State Theatre discloses an M-G-M production of "Dancing Romance", a famous love story written by Ivan McClellan. In this Ellen Malia is the cause of bitter jealousy between two important characters, Charles Zeglin and Steve Sefchick. Mademoiselle Thelma Honse, that celebrated dancer with her group of chorus girls, some of whom are Catharine Dennis, Esther Mertz, Virginia Baird, and Anna Reese, also play a prominent part.

In the next picture I visualize myself down at the harbor where I see a large ocean liner piloted by Captain Melvin Reese and co-pilot, John Rice. John Secosky, Andrew Pelar, Joe Strama, and Dale Craig are members of the sturdy crew. Among the passengers are the dignified Grace Kantorik and Thelma Chackan who have gone abroad because of their poor health, Mary Adzima is both their companion and nurse. On the same ship is Anna Barber, who is on her way to Paris to study music, and Selma Terhurst who is bound for Italy to further her knowledge in art. Mary Huffman and her beloved sister, Florence, have left their beautiful home at Lincoln Heights for a pleasure trip around the world.

Another flash and I am in the lobby of the Porterfield Hotel, the match-making center or "Cupid's Striking Place". There I see the clerk, Sophia Idizk, busily chatting with several old friends who have come to find their better half. They are none other than Marie Shaffer, Martha Sidehammer, and Bessie Wagner. Here's wishing them success.

The picture fades—the atmosphere changes. Buzz—Buzz—Buzz. A bee had settled on my nose, and had wakened me. What a dream! But it was worth it, for it has pictured the future of my classmates from the class of "36".

Junior Class Active in Every Phase of School Work

Having been raised in the various elementary schools of Mt. Pleasant Township, we, the seeds of 1937, were sown in the fertile soil of Hurst High School. There under the care and supervision of our numerous gardeners, we soon acquired substantial roots due to the nourishment supplied by our soil elements—Latin, English, Junior Business Training, etc. But how dreary the atmosphere looked as we “little green Freshies” first broke through the soil and looked at our environment! However, we were stimulated by the “rain” of social and athletic functions, and our collection made a beautiful showing in the garden. But we were no exceptions so we had to endure our hardships. The imports of our head supervisor, Mr. Mullin, carried with them a fearful plague, the Semester Exams. Some were forced to wither away and leave us. But, after a hard struggle, the majority of us were again able to hold our heads. By this time, we had made such wonderful progress that we were ready to leave our garden and make room for more.

As we entered our new surroundings, we found that we were in the world-renowned Sophomore Florist Shop. We were divided according to our respective classes, and learned our florists—Miss Myers, Miss Neiderhiser, Mr. Batiste, Mr. Silvis, etc. As time passed we frequently were taken from our temporary home to be used for decorations at our dances and other activities. By this time it was necessary to make another selection of our numbers for some were drooping entirely too much to be in such a fine collection as ours.

How proud we were to learn that we could lead the parade in Juniorville the following year! To our secret delight, there were many among us who had refused to be anything but large physically fit plants. These were a great contribution to the athletic association while our more graceful members were very successful in the “Operetta” and prom. How enjoyable everything was! And then to cap our pleasures, all those taking part in the Juniorville parade were provided with a gold memory ring to show our distinction in this flower kingdom of Hurst. We are still in Juniorville, as we must be inspected by that Semester Nurseryman, for only the strong and hardy can again go forward. But our continued activities may have been too strenuous for a few of our number. Although we have hopes for all, we also have a great fear, for there are still some weak ones among us.

However, we still have a majority of our beginners, and it is those that are looking forward to entering that great flower society the Senior Circle—in the near future.

Sophs Maintain High Standards Of Preceding Classes

In the year of nineteen thirty-four, Maestro Hurst High raised his baton to conduct an orchestra of young inexperienced aspirants. The composition to be presented was the Nineteen Thirty Eight Symphony in four movements, the Freshmen, the Wise Fool, the Junior, and the Senior.

The first notes of the Freshmen movement contained chaos and discords but after a few measures all flowed smoothly. All of a sudden the Football Theme became mingled with victories and sometimes lagging in defeat. After this onrush the music was interrupted occasionally by the Culprit Motive. Suddenly, the music stopped for an intermission of two weeks for a Christmas vacation for the young musicians. When this period was over, the young people came back and again resumed the symphony. Soon a very mournful strain called the Mid-Semester Exam Theme was heard. Sometimes the strains were happy and sometimes mournful depicting the fate of young scholars. A previous motive was heard then when the music was full of beautiful harmony. Toward the end of the first movement of the symphony a similar chaotic theme was heard called the Final Examination Theme. Finally the music stopped amid happy notes and wailing sighs. The young musicians laid down their instruments to have a surcease from the playing of that difficult symphony for three long months.

Again in September of nineteen thirty-five almost all the musicians returned to again take up their instruments to play the Wise Fool movement. This movement is very much similar to the former one containing almost all the same themes and motives. The only outstanding difference was that the musicians did not create so many discords and the strains were more harmonious.

At the end of the year they looked forward to the time when they would play the first of the Upper Classmen movements.

Hordes of Busy Frosh Sweep High School Corridors

On September 4, 1935 when we two hundred twenty-two Freshmen entered Hurst High School, the building seemed to welcome us and say, "Come in! Come in! Once again my doors are flung open wide and here I am all ready to gather in my old friends and to welcome many newcomers."

Now vacation days are over. There is much laughter and chattering in this workshop and playground—the corner where all get together for many happy hours of work and play. Essayist, artist, poet, athlete, and letter-writer get ready for the good times ahead. There are dances, clubs, box socials, and contests to enter. The code of Hurst High calls for fair competition, earnest effort, and good sportsmanship in work and play.

We scarcely recognize how time flies and soon football season greets us. This is when we show our spirit to our school by helping to cheer and taking keen interest in the team. The holiday dances that are held at this time are a source of fun and amusement for all.

Soon the glow of candles, the smell of cedar, and the crackle of the log usher Christmas in. We have been cheerful, kind, and obedient most of the year, but now we become angelic. In thinking of others instead of ourselves, our corner could easily be mistaken for a little bit of heaven.

New Year's Day, the time for making resolutions, is just what we need for our purpose. The first thing we do is to resolve, with all the firmness of which we are capable, to wear our Christmas behavior all the year round. With this foremost in mind, we return from the holidays with pride and satisfaction to take up our work anew.

April comes with the Junior Class Play and brings us an evening full of laughs and wholesome entertainment. May with its happiness for one and all is welcoming and greeting us. Great work is done this month in the form of an operetta and a Senior Class Play. As a pleasant remembrance of the year, a picnic is held and the interest taken in it is conspicuous by its attendance.

At the very end of school we bid the seniors a cordial good-bye. A special program is presented on this occasion as a reward for their splendid achievements.

We, as newcomers, feel a little sad in parting with our new-found friends. However, a happy glow can be seen underneath the sorrow, for we realize that after a brief vacation, we will again enter Hurst, not as newcomers, but as old friends in the role of Sophomores.

Hurst's Debating Team Wins Again

"Mister Chairman, Honorable Judges, Worthy Opponents, Friends: We have met here this evening to discuss the all important question

Resolved: "That the Several States Should Enact Legislation Providing For a System of Complete Medical Service Available to All Citizens at Public Expense."

Thus we quote the new debators who have followed in the footsteps of their predecessors in winning the County Championship this year for old Hurst High.

Shall we adopt State Medicine?

"Yes," shouts the firey affirmative, Mary Shibilski.

"Absolutely, no," comments the negative, Louis Houser.

"It would be very beneficial," continues Irene Smithnosky, the second affirmative. While Ruth Haberlen, that fighting second negative, cries—"It can't be. I'll prove it."

And so, on it goes.

But at any rate, it requires so much to take away the honors from our debators—who, all except the Senior negative—intend to carry on the wreaths of victory another year.

Girls Physical Ed. Club Teaches Good Sportsmanship

A shrill whistle and the "Reds and Whites" are up and at it immediately. "Up at what?" you may ask. The answer is the ever fascinating game—basketball.

For sixty minutes, the game continues, only breaking up at short intervals to change teams.

The purpose of this club, under Miss Dullinger's and Miss Fisher's supervision, is to create an interest in sports and to teach one to be able to play a good clean game.

Perhaps, in the future, it may furnish a girl's Basketball Team whose fame will reach far and wide. Who knows?

Latin Club Members Re-live Old Roman Customs

The S. P. Q. R. Club isn't a secret organization, but our Latin Club at Hurst. The letters represent the words, "Senatus Populusque Romanus," or "The Roman Republic." Each member is a citizen of the republic. As the censor calls the roll, each citizen answers, "adsum" which, as you have probably guessed, means, "I am present." The aedile and his assistants have charge of the program and by means of a play, a bit of Roman history, or a Roman toga, the members of the club are carried back to old Rome. The latter part of the program is usually devoted to a Latin game or contest, not the bloody gladiator contests or the chariot races which delighted the heart of the ancient Roman, but contests in the nature of conundrums and charades of Latin words.

Chemistry Club Develops Future Scientists

"The meeting will now come to order", booms the President of this club, and stillness reigns. Once again the Chemistry Club meets to sit through a breath taking experiment. They know the secret of turning red litmus paper to blue, and vice versa. They know the parts of a Bunsen burner and the pungent, familiar smell of chlorine. They know their Chemistry. How do we know? Discuss a new invention or formula, show them a trick. Immediately they take the object, and, with the eyes of a scientist, try their own experiments, and even offer improvements!

Hurst's Naturalists Enjoy Field and Nature Club

We've been wondering why there are so many birds about the school building lately. We investigated and we found out. Can you guess?

The boys of the Field and Nature Club have been building bird-houses at their leisure and the birds have certainly fallen for the idea! And such bird houses! Some are oblong, others round, tubular, square, with brightly painted exteriors that attract attention. And just at this time one may hear all kinds of bird calls in the halls, from that of a Whip-poor-will to that of a crow.

And that isn't all. Describing and recognizing trees and their leaves are simple matters to these naturalists, and, what's more, they know most flowers at sight, which is very, very unusual for boys.

Is it any wonder, then, that we expect so much of this club in the future?

Mathematics Club Makes Initial Appearance This Year

Sounds dry, doesn't it? But you'd be surprised! Of course, this club must be true to its name with numbers and figures but, otherwise, it's a joy to its members. Speakers of exceptional knowledge in surveying and business have made speeches and how the members enjoy it! Puzzles, mathematical, of course, have been brought in and ingeniously worked by the members. Nothing is too hard for these mathematical minds whose capacity no one knows. But what we do know is that they are hard to beat and that this club is growing in size and importance.

Go To College Club Inspires Students

An imaginary visit to various colleges in sixty minutes is the aim of Mr. Mullin as sponsor of the Go To College Club. Every member has the desire to go to college after Mr. Mullin has told stories of his fun at college—and why not? His stories range from wearing green dunce caps and eating peanuts to a night in detention hall. And the courses we might take are as numerous as the freckles on a turkey egg.

The sole desire for this club is to prepare students for college, giving suggestions for the best courses and requirements for them. It has created much interest around Hurst and we expect it to celebrate its anniversaries with much gusto in the years to come.

How To Do Club Teaches Correct Social Customs

What to do, how to do, when to do, and where to do. With this knowledge, one can move a mountain. And this club certainly has moved mountains. In its short life of three years, it has given fashion reviews, taught table manners, trained in the art of beauty and styles. And then, to make it even more interesting, several women have given lectures concerning beauty hints and etiquette. It's all very interesting and educational and we no longer wonder why there are so many well-mannered maidens about the place. It has a great influence on the rest of us, too. You never heard so many "thank you's" and "pardon me's" in your life—and it's all due to the How To Do Club.

No wonder, then, that we expect to hear so much of this club in the future!

Junior and Senior Dramatic Club Enjoys Entertaining Programs

Fast-beating hearts and trembling knees are things of the past to these actors and actresses. And "stage-fright"—well, that word just isn't in their vocabulary, which accounts for the ripping success they made in giving their last comedy "Crashing Society." In fact, it was such a success that members of the club for several days after suffered from sore sides caused, of course, by their hilarity.

Seriously, though, this club is a great success which is partly due to its careful supervision under Miss Barnhart and Mrs. Russell. Its membership roll is very large and is growing larger. Its main purpose is to promote dramatic and speaking ability and it works wonders. What would we do without our Junior and Senior Dramatic Club?

Freshman and Sophomore Dramatic Club Discovers Rare Talent

Seventy-six amateur actors and actresses with eager hearts and trembling knees meet each month to further the cause of drama. The performers on the well planned programs receive the great applause of their fellow members.

Sometimes the club presents a one act play; sometimes readings are given. On one occasion the highlight of the program was Major Daugherty's Amateur Hour. As his name was announced, each "young hopeful" did his best in the effort to gain for himself the first rung on the ladder of success.

We expect to hear these artists again and see them add to their fame and fortune in the plays and operettas in their Junior and Senior years at Hurst.

High School Orchestra Entertains at School Functions

The auditorium is rapidly filling with students and their friends. Behind the curtain the stage is being set for a play or an operetta, and in the pit in front of the curtain, a well trained and capable orchestra entertains the audience until the curtain is drawn. Between acts, as well, the orchestra entertains with modern music, often featuring a vocal solo or a girl's trio.

Every member of the orchestra should feel that his hard work and long hours of practice have not been spent in vain. We are proud of our orchestra and hope its excellent work will be continued.

Hurst Marches to Victory to the Strains of the High School Band

Rat-a-ta-tap! Rat-a-ta-tap! In the distance the beating of drums is heard, then the blowing of trumpets. We catch a gleam of scarlet caps and capes, and down the field marches the Hurst High School Band. A roar of applause and a cheer from the grand stand greets our thirty-six faithful members under the direction of Miss Miller.

The drum major, Andrew Busdosh, gives the signal for letter formation and almost before we know it, the letter "H" is formed. The team has made a touchdown and immediately the band strikes up the familiar strains of "Bingo". Our hearts are stirred by "Victory March" and the "Alma Mater".

Our football games would lose much of their glamor and thrills without our High School Band.

Glee Club Has Successful Season

"Oranges and Lemons" may be the chant of the fruit vendor, but it is also the song of the Girls' Glee Club here at Hurst. By sweetly singing this melody, and another called "The Isle of Sleep", they sang themselves into second place at the Glee Club contest held at Ramsay High School on March 19.

The club is under the supervision of Miss Miller and its already large enrollment is steadily growing larger.

Here's hoping the Glee Club presents as bright a picture in the future as it has in recent years.

"EVERYBODY'S CRAZY"

"Everybody's Crazy" is true to its title. Three young men buy a hotel and to secure guests, they advertise that the place is a health resort, that it contains a buried treasure, and that a famous dancer, Eve St. Dennis, is stopping there. In their desperation to keep the few guests who have come, one young man disguises himself as a doctor and another impersonates the dancer who has failed to appear. Amusing complications arise which cause roars of laughter from the audience. In the end everything turns out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

"THE FAMILY UPSTAIRS"

Joe Heller is a street car inspector on $42.50 a week. Louise is his eldest daughter, an office worker, who hasn't managed to land a husband yet. Her mother's one anxiety is to get her married, while father's ambition is to get son Willie to work. Sister Annabelle has one passion, and that is getting out of doing her piano lessons. It is a typical average American home. Louise announces at dinner that a young man is calling on her later and she would like to have the parlor for herself. Sensation! Louise has never had a young man "caller" before. Charles Grant comes—a fine upstanding fellow—and after embarrassed introductions, is left alone with Louise. They are in love, and before the evening is out they are engaged. But mother puts her finger in the domestic pie. She drops hints and tells Grant that $100. a week is too little for Louise to live on. She tells the neighbors what a wonderful fellow Louise has won and that he is a banker (in reality he gets $40 a week) and the game of bluff goes on. Having heard all this "propaganda", Grant begins to wonder what sort of a family he is getting into. There is an unhappy half-hour when the engagement seems to be off, and Grant's mother appears on the scene. Mrs. Grant is just the bluffer Mrs. Heller is, and both see through all the bluffs and discount them.

HURST AT JOHNSTOWN—SEPTEMBER 21

Hurst, weary from the long ride to Johnstown, played against decisive odds for the opening of their grid season. The initial tussel of a "suicide schedule" ended in a defeat for Hurst. The score 20—0.

HURST AT UNIONTOWN—SEPTEMBER 28

Pledging vengeance, Hurst dashed eagerly on to the field and came off again with a well-earned victory, after a hard-fought, thrill packed game. The final score was 15—2 in favor of the Hurricane.

HURST AT GREENSBURG—OCTOBER 5

That same Hurricane with all its power and viciousness could not batter down the on-rushing, championship team of Greensburg. After all even a hurricane can't move a mountain very far, and a small squad of "little Breezes" breezed back home again with a 33—0 defeat.

EAST HUNTINGDON AT HURST—OCTOBER 19

Home, after a weeks rest, Hurst was over-awed by the stone-wall defense and the dynamic offense of the visitors and the game ended in a 0—0 tie.

DERRY TOWNSHIP AT HURST—OCTOBER 26

This game promised to be the most thrilling of the season, and it was. Numerous possible touchdowns were staved off by the courageous defense of both teams. They were evenly matched. In the second quarter, a substitute end snared a beautiful forward pass beyond the goal line for six points. Derry stayed in the lead and won the game by a 6—0 score.

HURST AT MOUNT PLEASANT—NOVEMBER 2

Following considerable "bodacious" ballyhoo and incredible threats against Hurst, the Mount Pleasant Bobcats tasted bitter defeat at the cruel hands of Hurst. The "Honorable Tilt" ended in a 12—0 victory for Hurst which meant as much as championship to those bruised and battered warriors.

HURST AT LATROBE—NOVEMBER 11

A "walk-away" was what the fans predicted. But in the second quarter Hurst recovered a fumbled punt in Latrobes' territory and converted this "break" into a touchdown in three plays. Latrobe retaliated by scoring twice in the second half. The score 12—6.

ELIZABETH AT HURST—NOVEMBER 16

An injured, fighting team went down to defeat before a smooth, shifty Elizabeth team by a 21—0 score.

SEWICKLEY AT HURST—NOVEMBER 23

A confident seeker of County grid honors had the wind blown from their sails as the "Scarlet Hurricane" swept to a 12—0 victory.

HURST AT JEANNETTE—NOVEMBER 28

Thanksgiving day and the final game of the season. While Jeannette was favored to win by at least twenty points they plowed thru ankle deep mud to a bare 13—0 victory. Their last touchdown came as the final gun sounded.

The Colophon

Edgar "Pete" Harr—L. T. Coming out for football late in the season, "Pete" proved his mettle and played regular left tackle for the remainder of the season.

Edward "Wheatie" Kluska—L. E. He is another end deserving more credit than he has ever received. He was a strong believer in team work and he never laid down on the job. Good luck, "Wheaties".

Andrew "Andy" Mizenko—R. T. A letterman for two years, "Andy" made a fine showing last year and his service will be missed immensely next season.

Elmer "Little Giant" Muchoney graduates this year with as much honor as any guard who ever played for Hurst. His ready smile and quiet disposition have won him many friends.

Henry Scoff—L. H. When Henry was in a game every one knew it. His end sweeps always caused a strange thrill to steal over the crowd, and when he got in the open, a different kind of a thrill went through the boys who had to stop him. He was twice a letterman and would be a valuable cog in any grid machine.

Don "Davey" Queer—A "scrappy" boy who saw quite a lot of service this season and who relished a scrimmage.

Aleck "Happy" Kundrich—Q. A junior who took plenty of punishment both verbal and physical but who always came out smiling. He lettered this year and is sure to repeat next year at the old guide position, Quarter-back.

Mike Fiedor—H. B. Mike is a little boy with a quiet way who threatens to make a loud noise when he is a regular next season.

On to Victory!

The Colophon

Andy "Bright Eyes" Sivak—R. H. "Bright Eyes" was the fellow who always "talked it up" in the huddle and who shone on defense and offense. He liked to be there when the trouble was the thickest. "Bright Eyes" also was a three year service man.

Harold "Dudey" McCloy—Although only a Junior, this sturdy center has lettered twice and has another year to show his fighting spirit.

Frank "Payday" Pyda. "Payday" is a happy-go-lucky boy who scored the first touchdown last year. He's a big boy who puts everything in the game.

David Hunter—"Skeeters" was the boy who bore the anger of the players and coaches valiantly. When not busy, he entertained himself by throwing soap and wet towels at the boys under the showers.

Walter "Slim" Gorinsky—Another Freshman with a promising future on the gridiron ahead of him as center.

John "Sam" Mikita—Another Junior from whom much is to be expected next year. He is a guard who is hard to get past and did his share last year.

Ralph Porch—C. Porch delighted in putting over "fast ones" on the squad. "Tough boy" was the coach's name for Ralph.

George "Laughing" Smith—L. E. A Freshman who should "go to town" for the next three years. "Laughing" has a chance to bring considerable honor to himself and his school.

Andrew "EGGY" Kocinski—R. T. "EGGY" is a big boy and a hard tackle to move. He is a sophomore.

Getting ready for another big game.

The Colophon

John Pushcar—John is a quiet, smooth-going lad who seldom lost his temper. "Pushie" was an efficient trainer and "swell" kid.

Charles "Duke" Zeglin. "Duke" always tried hard and he loves the game of football as well as anyone could love it.

Merle "Moldy" Weirs—R. E. is a fine end as ever played on a Scarlet eleven. He is only a Sophomore and he already has two years of regular service to his credit. Keep it up, "Moldy".

Walter "Mail Pouch" Welc—F. A Sophomore fullback who saw enough running this year to make him very valuable to next season's team.

Andrew "Babe" Craffey—F. "Andy" was a hard worker and a fullback who always kept his head and tried to encourage his fellow gridders. He was a regular for three years and we'll surely miss him.

Delmar Faust—R. E.. Delmar loves the game and shows plenty of "scrap" when he gets his chance.

Homer Nicholson—Homer was the "Honorable Skeeter's" first assistant, but he was not quite so brave as Dave. Nicholson was usually to be found inside the cage where the equipment was checked. It was safer there, wasn't it, Homer?

Bernard "Chuck" Steff—L. T. An aggressive tackle with a fighting spirit. He is a Sophomore and a promising candidate for a regular position.

Bernard "Bert" Novak—R. G. A Junior guard who saw considerable service this year and who looks like a sure regular next season.

Fighting for Hurst High

The Colophon

The Hurst High School Basketball Team of 1936

Never in the history of the school has Hurst been represented with better a quintet than that which upheld the Red and White during the past season. With four lettermen and a few reliable substitutes left over from 1935, Coach Jack "Moon" Clark moulded together a well balanced machine that clicked well in nearly every game, scoring 14 victories as compared with 5 defeats.

The Scarlet Hurricane was represented in Section X of the W. P. I. A. L. together with Uniontown, Dunbar Twp., Connellsville, Scottdale, East Huntingdon and Mt. Pleasant. Games with these foes kept the locals high on the ladder and gave them first place for a good share of the season. However, in the breakup that cost a conference title, the Hurricane lost to an invading Uniontown quintet by a 27—16 score. This game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season and proved to be the most outstanding battle of the year.

Coach Clark presented sweaters to the following boys for their splendid work throughout the season: Kluska, Reese, Rice, Craffey and Manager Pushcar, all seniors who graduate this June; and to Myers, Smail, Heller, Mehal and Shefsick, all eligible to play next year.

The following persons were responsible for taking care of the team: Coach, John Clark; Faculty Manager, Joseph Silvis; Student Manager, John Pushcar; Trainer, Lawrence Schroll; and Assistant Manager; Charles Dublinsky and Alex Kondrich.

Edward "Eddie" Kluska (Forward)

"Eddie" played a forward and was one of the most consistent scorers throughout the season. He was a hard and dependable worker and will be missed when next season rolls by.

John "Johnny" Rice (Center)

John's jumping at center and his ability to come through in pinches, aided in turning the outcome of many games.

Melvin "Mel" Reese (Guard)

Where there was fight, "Mel" was on the spot. He played brilliant ball at the other guard position, and will be well remembered for his fighting spirit.

Martin "Boday" Shefsick (Forward)

Martin another substitute showed plenty of grit when he played, and no doubt he will become a regular next year.

Andrew "Babe" Craffey (Guard)

"Babe" showed us plenty of fight and basketball ability when he played. He was a dependable sub and will be lost to next year's team.

Robert "Bobbie" Myers (Forward)

"Bobbie" played the opposite forward and was good at shooting and handling the ball. With another season ahead of him "Bob" should be one of the outstanding stars at Hurst.

Leonard "Wink" Rutkosky (Guard)

Leonard was a smart and tricky guard and a consistent scorer all season. He was good on all shots and was a great help to the team's success.

Henry "Benny" Mehal (Forward)

Benny did not play in every game, but we hope when next season rolls in he will earn himself a place on the first team.

Paul "Chesty" Smail (Center)

Paul was the most reliable sub on the team. He saw considerable service at the center and forward positions, and should go places next year.

Norman "Nooch" Heller (Guard)

Although Norman did not get in every game, he surely proved that he could fight when he did play. We expect him to shine next year.

John "Pushy" Pushcar (Manager)

John handled the managerial duties like a master. He was well liked by all the boys and will be hard to replace next year.

OUR OWN ERA—How fast, oh Ford?

Mrs. Reese—"Melvin——Mel-VIN!"

Melvin—"Huh, Ma?"

Mrs. Reese—"Are you spitting in the fish bowl?"

Melvin—"No, but I'm coming pretty close."

Zeglin—"This is a famous bed, a sugar king once slept on it."

Patsko—"Yes, I can still feel the lumps."

Sister—"Oh, look at our new radio."

Brother—"Radio, heck! that's grandma's coffin."

Miss Barnhart—"Were you copying his paper?"

"Wink"—"No, ma'am, I was just looking to see if he had mine right."

A fan dancer is merely a nudist with a cooling system.

Sign on student's door—

If I'm studying when you enter, wake me up.
